Other officials are Howard Whatley, 1st vice president; E. C. Cole 2nd vice president; and John Peter 3rd vice president.

W. C. Wiese was named secretary treasurer to succeed himself. Guy Hartgraves is the new Lion Tamer and Ray O'Neill will be the club's new Tailtwister.

Used Car Sales At Grabein Chevrolet Real Opportunity

Residents of Cameron and vicinity today have the opportunity of years, to obtain reliable used cars at rock-bottom prices. This is the statement of R. G. Brabein of the Grabein Chevrolet Co., Chevrolet dealers, who explained that heavy sales of the new 1940 Chevrolets in this area account for the exeeptional number of bargains in the company's used car stock this spring.

"Sales of new cars and trucks, since the present models were introduced last October, have broken all records for any corresponding period in Chevrolet history," Mr. Grabein pointed out. "This means that dealers, and our organization among them, have taken more used cars in trade than is usually the case.

"Of special interest to the public too, is the fact that this year's trade-ins include and extra large proportion of recent models, in various makes. The explanation is that many persons who had no intention of buying new cars, until they saw the 1940 Chevrolet, changed their minds and turned in comparatively recent models in order to obtain the performance, economy and style of the sensationally-popular new Chevrolet.

"The result is that our used car today includes, not only many three and four year old cars, but several that left the assembly lines less than a year ago. Such cars, of course, embody many of the latest engineering advances, besides ranking high from the standpoint of beauty and style. The reservoir of transportation in them has hardly been tapped, yet they are priced today as used cars. Like the older models in the stock, they have been thoroughly checked to assure their buyers satisfaction—the kind which will bring them back to us when they are in the car market again."

NO RESULTS ON CLEAN UP IN CENSUS DRIVE HERE

Cameron was reaping its usual low average of interest in the important matter of the clean up in the 1940 census.

Daily Herald learned today that not one telephone call has been received at the Chamber of Commerce office.

To accomplish the necessary work of the final round up, committees should be named to cooperate with the Census Enumerators.

Purely a function of the Chamber of Commerce, many are wondering why the organization has not manifested proper interest in these last few days of necessary canvas, if the city is to have a full count.

Early reports said the French had come out of their hiding and were figthing at last. What Reynaud meant by change in tactics was not ascertained. It was certain however to indicate the progress of war is unsatisfactory to the Allies.

77,000 Policyholders Die Annually in U. S. Survey Reveals

Statistics just compiled by the American Life Convention indicate that 77,000 policyowners die in the United States, within a year after they invest in life insurance, and that their beneficiaries receive approvimately $52,000,000 as a result of their insurance.

The statistics, just received here by S. E. Brogdon who is local representative of Southwestern Life Insurance Company an affiliate of the American Life Convention, were taken from a survey which also covered the field of health and accident records. Based upon estimates of the United States Public Health Service, the American Life Convention reports an average of 5,000,000,000 persons invalided each day by sickness, and 500,000 by accidents.

The report estimates the annual loss in wages from sickness and accidents, not covered by Workmen's Compensation benefits, total more than $6,500,000. Where permanent disability is involved, however, much of this loss is covered by life insurance.

Bob H. Nabours who is the Cameron hospital with typhoid is doing nicely at this time.

ROOSEVELT WANTS QUICK ARMS CASH

TIDE OF WAR TURNS AGAINST THE ALLIES

President Roosevelt asked for an immediate apropriation of $896,000,000 for national defense today in a message delivered in person to a joint session of the House and Senate.

The President also asked for immediate increases in the army, navy and air forces.

Of the total appropriations asked more than $500,000,000 is for the army.

The President began speaking at noon. His voice was grave and his words clear. He said he wanted this country geared up without delay and hoped no opposition would develop in Congress to delay immediate action on his requests.

The United States must have facilities to produce 50,000 planes a year, he said.

He asked the Congress to place no obstacle in the way of immediate delivery of airplanes to the Allies. This was regarded as a clear declaration of aid to England and France.

It was planned to act at once on the message and there was indication the President would receive immediate co-operation in his plan for boosting the armed forces of the nation.

Interpreting the tenor of the address the Daily Herald advances the belief that the President is either fearful of a Germany victory within the immediate future or plans to lead the country into war to aid the Allies should conditions become more acute.

Just before he appeared in the House chamber for the momentous address, news came that he had dispatched on yesterday a message to Benito Mussolini asking that Italy stay out of the war.

Mussolini is said to have sent the message to Count Ciano, his foreign secretary and the reply to Mr. Roosevelt was very curt and said the message was without effect.

European representatives of the United States, including Ambassador Phillips in Rome, are said to have reported to the President that Italy planned to enter the war today. This was unconfirmed, but belief is now general that Italy wll go to the aid of Germany.

France was moving a hugh army to the Italian and Swiss border. Switzerland was fully mobolized.

Germany will attack Switzerland and join forces with Italy for a thrust into France. The French are said to have long ago proposed attacking Italy but the British objected. France has an army capable of driving into the Balkins through Italy.

British and French war fleets have left Alexandria, Egypt.

Greece was sending troops to the border of Albania.

Sovet Russia, believed ready to come in at any time with Germany by radio today at England and France.

The war in Belgium and France had reached a critcial stage today with the German armies making rapid gains.

According to confirmed reports the Germans have broken through French defenses and have crossed the Meuse River at 3 points.

Mecanized units were preceding the infantry and overhead the Nazis air fore was blasting a path of destruction, sweeping all present Allied defense efforts before it.

Around Sedan the fighting was not as severe as on yesterday. The Germans seemed determined to break through and isolate the Allied armies in Belgium. Today the center of attack was in the vicinity of Brussels.

French counter attacks were not sufficient at any point to stop the Germans.

From London as well as Paris the situation was said to be extremely grave although not critical.

German losses are 10 to 1 greater than the Allies said a newspaper correspondent with the armies in Belgium. This means that Hitler is paying a high price in young German blood for the conquest of Europe.

British and French air forces were reported bombing and disorganizing portions of the German supply lines and communications.

Paul Reynaud, French Premier, in a ten minute speech today said that the Allies may be forced to change their tactics.

FARMERS WILL HEAR SOIL LAW DISCUSSED

The importance of soil conservation and benefits of the new Texas Soil conservation law will be thoroughly explained to farmers here at 2 p. m. Friday in the court house when C. Hohn, specialist in soil work from Texas A & M delivers the principal address.

George Banzhaf, county agent, who for many years had worked for a soil conservation program, was about to witness the triumph of long years of labor and education. Oldest county agent in America in point of continuous service, Mr. Banzhaf many years ago started the movement in this county. Now the state has enacted legislation looking to better state co-operation in the program.

The meeting in Cameron is one of a number to be held looking to the election to be held Saturday, May 25, at which time all farmers who are qualified votes will have an opportunity to vote on the propostion to create a Central Texas Soil Conservation District. This district is a part of the State program and certain benefits are also available through national aid.

The soil district includes 784,000 acres necessarily in need of a conservation program.

The meeting here May 17 is regarded of great importance and farmers are urged to attend so they may more intelligently vote on Saturday, May 25th.

Cattle Men Begin Second Year With Increased Membership

With a membership of more than 400 and a record of many things accomplished the Central Texas Livestock Association held its first annual meeting in Hearne on Tuesday night.

Homer Nabours, Secretary, whose family has long been associated with the Texas cattle industry from early trails to the modern herds, reported to the Daily Herald that the annual meeting was well attended and that new members are enrolling at a rapid rate.

The Association, organized in 1939, contemplates major benefits for livestock in 4 counties in central Texas: Milam, Brazos, Robertson and Burleson. In addition to improving the status of better livestock in this area the cattlemen have also succeeded in a practical way to co-operate with authorities in stamping out cattle thieves.

Jim Perkins, former Texas Ranger, and now a special Ranger, has been retained by the Association. Results to date show that the hard riding ranger who formerly haunted the trails of bandits on the Mexican border, is turning in a first rate job. Cow thieves have been arrested over a wide area and some have been sent to prison. Other cases are pending.

Increased membership in Milam county has been notable. Mr. Nabours will shortly prepare a statement outlining the things accomplished during the first year.

The faculty will be guests of the Athletic Council at a squirrel barbecue tonight.

400 SLAIN IN BRUSSELS AIR RAID AS HITLER HURLS MILLON MEN AGAINST FRENCH IN WEST

Holland and Belgium were Nos. 6 and 7 in the path of German conquest when at 6 a. m. today the mighty forces of Adolph Hitler began an invasion of the low countries.

At the same time the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg bordering on France and helpless before the mighty war machine of Nazi Germany became the path for German armies marching on France.

Adolph Hitler was on the Western Front personally directing his newest military campaign.

The German Fueherer hurled a million of his best troops against the Maginot line presumably to hold Allied troops in place while he marched through the low countries to take strategic air and naval bases across the English channel for attacks on Britain.

King Leopold of the Belgians left Brussels immediately to take command of his armies of 600,000 well trained and equipped men.

Queen Wilhemena of Holland in a blistering statement to her people charged Germany with a breach of good faith and broken promise to respect the neutrality of the Netherlands. At the same time she accused Hitler of betraying Holland she issued orders to the army to resist the German invasion. Holland has a well equipped army of 400,000 men.

A German radio announcement said that The Hague, capital of Holland had been occupied by German troops. This announcement was believed premature

German troops were reported to have advanced 10 miles into Holland. The Dutch army was giving stiff resistance to the invaders.

Germany's newest Blitzkrieg, or ligthning war, to be unleashed against small neutral countries was preceded by a lengthy statement in Berlin by Adolph Hitler who said that for 300 years England and France have been attempting to destroy Germany. Recent utterances of Allied statesmen he said proved that England and France plan to crush the German people. "Go and make secure Germany for a thousand years," said the German dictator as he hurled a million men against France and the low countries.

The invasion occured about 6 a. m. European time which was about 11 p. m. central standard time Thursday.

Both the governments of Holland and Belgium appealed to England and France for aid. Allied capitals pledged all their strength to immediate relief of the stricken, small countries.

Lord Hallifax, British foreign Secretary, said that Britain would go immediately to the assistance of Holland and Belgium.

France, teeming with millions of bayonets, in characteristic fashion, marched immediately to the aid of Belgium and Luxembourg.

In Berlin the German foreign minister, Von Ribbethrop, called in newspaper correspondents and released the news of the invasion and in a lengthy communication sought to justify the war's new turn to other neutral countries.

Paul Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister, in a radio address to the nation said that the invasion was necessary to forestall Allied invasion of Germany through the low countries.

NAZI PLANES OPEN WAR

German bombing planes opened war on Belgium and Holland with widespread destruction and a simaltaneous attack on air bases in Brussels and in widely scattered points in France.

A news bulletin said that 400 people were killed when 37 German bombing planes attacked the air base at Brussels.

Hitler issued orders to his armies to spare open cities and towns and Red Cross units and hospitals. This order was promptly forgotten once the Nazi bombers were over the Belgian capital

The British and French headquarters in France reported 7 German bombers were shot down in an attack on British air bases in France.

PRESIDENT DISTURBED

President Roosevelt called a meeting of army, navy and cabinet heads for 10 a. m. today Japan has announced she will not tolerate any disturbance of the status quo in the Dutch East Indies. Whether the American government regards Japan's statement as enough will be a basis for speculation these few hours when war again has enveloped other countries. America would be expected to move immediately against Japan if the flag of the Rising Sun should advance into the Indies.

BRITISH CLOSE GIBRALTAR?

An unconfirmed report early this morning said that the British had closed the straits of Gibraltar. Italy was represented as waiting for some such pretext to go to war. King Emanuel of Italy is believed deeply disturbed and equally determined to keep Italy out of war. Prince Humberto, commander of the Northern army of Italy, married into the Royal Dutch family. Correspondents were eagerly watching the Italian re-action. It was said that none of the Italian leaders knew of the invasion.

SWITZERLAND MOBOLIZES

German invasion of Switzerland was believed to be a matter of only a few hours as the Swiss mobolized their armies. Switzerland is an effective barrier between Germany and France but in German hands would become a base for operations against France.

BALKANS QUIET FOR TIME

The Balkan Countries are believed safe temporarily against the spread of war. They will be next on the Hitler list of victims as soon as he has digested his newest territorial grab in Holland and Belgium.

MEDITERRANEAN TENSE

The situation in the Mediterranean was still tense and eyes were again turned to Italy. What will Italy now do in the war, was the question all observers were asking. Has the time come for Mussolini to step in on the side of Hitler. Many believe the hour is at hand for the decision Mussolini has been hinting at so long. With France engaged by the Germans on the Western front Italy might strike with greater effect.

FRANCE IS ATTACKED.

Despite general belief among all observers, Adolph Hitler has again done the unexpected. He has attacked France in the west.

Hurling almost a million men against France, attacking through Luxembourg, the German strategy is seen as a flanking movement designed to dodge the main fortifications of the Maginot line.

The French are known to have had for some time heavy defense lines along the Luxembourg border and are believed to be ready for any German Thrust.

ANTWERP IS BOMBED

The Netherlands government this morning said that Antwerp was being subjected to severe bombing by German planes.

Bridges were being blown up over all streams leading to the interior of Holland. The destruction was being carried out with precision and great dispatch.

Holland's first arm of defense, her waterways and canals, were being opened. Flood gates, held in lock against the day of invasion were being opened and flood waters were covering the lowlands to choke off the German invasion.

Mrs. Mayme Laird and Miss Minnie Stedman spent the week end in Austin and San Antonio.

Cnamberlain Quits

Nevile Chamberlain, British Prime Minister who narrowly survived a vote of confidence in the British Parliament, shortly afternoon today tendered his resignation to King George.

Winston Churchill, First Lord of the British Admiralty, became the new Prime Minister and will form a new government at once.

Queen Wilhemena of Holland, narrowly ascaped capture by German troops, dropped by parachute at the Hague, capital of the Netherlands.

This daring attempt to make the Netherland's Queen a prisoner of the German Reich failed when Dutch troops rallied and re-captured the city after the Germans had failed in their attempt to seize the Queen. Dutch troops captured the German soldiers.

It was believed that no great number of German troops were in the Hague and the attempt to catpure Queen Wilhemena was another one of Hitler's breathtaking strokes of warefare.

French soldiers, best equipped and the most effective fighting men in the world, were pouring into Holland and Belgium, advancing rapidly and were expected at any moment to contact the Germans. The Germans under Hitler will face for the first time men who are equal, if not better, in both courage and military genius.

British and French bombing planes were bombing German troops on the Western front in the greatest air offensive since the war began.

Nevile Chambelain spoke at 4 p. m. Eastern Standard Time.

President Roosevelt will deliver an address to the American nation at 10:30 tonight.

Grand Jury

The May term of Grand Jury, in session for four days, adjourned Thursday afternoon at 6 o'clock.

Seventy-five witnesses were examined. Out of the bills of indictments, eight were felony charges and one misdemeanor.

Indictments were made as follows: Merl Shockley, felony theft, bond set at $500; Dalwin Messer, felony theft, $500 bond George Smith, turkey theft, $500 bond; Arnold Erwin, charged with two burgary thefts and one turkey theft has three bonds set at $500 each; and Dick Gunnels, aggravated assault.

Gunnels trial was transferred to county court for the charges are the same as a misdemeanor case and the District Court has no jurisdiction over such cases.

Mrs. Sidney Stidham of Houston, who underwent a major operation in Houston a week ago, is reported to be improving. Mrs. Stidham is the daughter in law of Mrs. India Stidham here and has many friends in Cameron who are interested in hearing of her improvement.

"Build-Up" Relief Explained to Women

A simple method has saved many women a lot of suffering!

It is based on the fact that headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain are often symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

Help for this condition so often follows the use of CARDUI, because it usually increases the appetite and the flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion and helps build physical resistance. Usual result is less periodic distress.

Many who take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time" have found this helps ease periodic discomfort. Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years!

FRENCH MARINES LAND IN DUTCH EAST INDIES

War today had touched every part of the civilized world as Germany continued her lightening invasion of the low countries of Holland and Belgium.

The vast destruction of the Nazi war machine was leaving a frightful toll of havoc over a wide area in the Netherlands and little Belgium became the battle ground of two world wars within 20 years.

German sources announced that Hitler's troops were advancing on schedule and the Nazis continued to land troops by plane at strategic points along the Dutch Coast apparently in an effort to establish air bases and to install German forces to prosecute the campaign.

Allied sources of information told a differnet story.

The government of Holland said that the Nazi invasion had been stopped and the heroic Belgian army had fought the Nazis to a standstill only a short distance away from the German border.

Events were moving swiftly. Censorship made almost impossible any complete picture of what is going on.

Literally hundreds of German bombing planes have been shot out of the air by anti-air craft guns and by allied avitators who for he first time are challenging the German air strength. Allied losses are reported to be heavy also.

French soldiers advancing rapidly into Belgium have come to grips with the German army.

Large contingents of British troops have landed off the Netherlands coast and are marching inward, joining the Dutch forces in fierce fighting around Amsterdam.

A Geman troop train skirting the French-German border and believed to be carrying thousands of Nazi troops to the Belgium frontier was blown up and destroyed by French artillery this morning. Large sections of the railway lines have also been destroyed.

The most significant development of the war in the Far East was the landing of French marines this morning in the Dutch East Indies. President Roosevelt in Washington said the landing of these French marines was in accordance with the Monroe Doctrine, and therefore no protest was forthcoming.

In Tokyo the Japanese government said grave concern is felt because Holland, now a belligerent country, has joined up with England. Whether this indicates that Japan plans action over the Dutch East Indies, could not be ascertained.

The United States navy was standing ready for any eventuality in the Far East.

German bombing planes flying across the low countries were dropping thousands of bombs killing civilians and dealing out destruction on military bases. Rotterdam in Holland was bombed and a number of civilians killed. Nazi troops are landing by parachute at many points in the low countries.

German claims that Nazi troops are advancing on schedule was denied by the Allies.

Dutch and Belgium officials say that all German troops landing by parachute have been killed.

The allies claim hundreds of German planes have been shot down in the greatest air battle in history.

Thousands of telegrams were pouring into the executive office of the President in Washington and a noon broadcast said that 10 to 1 approved his address of Friday night in which he asked the countries on the Western Hemisphere to prepare for the inevitable day when Democracy must challenge the spread of Dictatorships. Mr. Roosevelt denounced the invasion of Holland and Belgium by the German army.

Shortly before noon today Pope Pius from the Vatican in Rome sent a message of congratuation to Queen Wilhemena of Holland. This was one of the most heartening developments of the day and observers belive it solidly indicates that the Catholic Church will have something to say about the position of Italy.

GERMAN DEAD COVER FIELD IN FLANDERS

British-Italian relations became so strained today that the London government had avised all Britons to leave Italy.

"We must make ready in the Mediterranean," said Winston Churchill, new British Prime Minister, in a speech to the Commons Monday morning.

In Rome on Sunday, mouthpiece editors said that the time has come for Italy to make the decision that will shake the foundations of the world. Bitter anti-British feeling was working to a white heat throughout the county. Vatican newspapers containing messages from the Pope to King Leopold of Belgium and Queen Wilehemenia of Holland, were burned in the streets.

Italy was expected to declare war on France and England within the next 48 hours or possibly sooner, depending on the turn of events in the low countries where Monday, Germany had turned loose all her military might for a quick knock out of the Belgian and Netherland armies and their Allies.

Under command of Benito Mussolini the Italian-French border had been fortified and large troop concentrations were taking place across the line from France's northeastern border.

War was imminent in the Mediterranean and this fact coupled with German advances in Holland made a dark picture for the allied cause in Europe as broadcasts brought the news of the day to Herald readers.

In Holland the Germans had although British and Dutch troops figthing side by side were reported slowing regaining the city which was threatened in the early stages of the invasion by paraschute troops dropped by the Nazis.

In Belgium the situation was more favorable to the Allies. Belgian troops figthing with the aid of French soldiers now apparently in contact with the Germans, had stopped the Nazis drive despite claims by the German high command.

For the first time since the invasion, it was definitely established that French soldiers were figthing in large numbers on Belgian soil. A major battle was imminent.

Germany is throwing troops into the fight with increasing fury and into both Holland and Belgium it apparently was a race to see whether the Nazis could crush the low countries before the French and British armies can make their strength felt.

French armies were reported advancing in Belgium. A strategic retreat had been ordered for the Belgians with the bulk of the defending forces falling back to prepared positions and there with them are the French.

German dead are said to cover the fields and battle grounds where they have been mowed down by Belgian fire. French soldiers advancing under a curtain of artillery fire late Sunday and Monday morning contacted large forces of Germans and are reported in Allied dispatches to have inflicted heavy losses.

British and French news sources said that 410 German planes have been shot down. Germany claims 320 Allied planes have been accounted for in the severe air battles now raging over the low lands and in France.

Seemingly unending lines of British and French army units with mecnaized equipment, artillery, anti-air craft guns and planes, both figthing ships and bombers, are streaming into Belgium and Holland.

Early today the Germans began the most severe artillery bombardment of the war on the Maginot line across the border from Strasbourg. This is the point at which French invaded Germany in the early stages last September. French troops are reported to have been driven back from advanced field positions.

There was belief that France may have to abandon Strasbourg if it hopes to effectively defend Alsace-Lorain and fall back to important parts of the Maginot defense.

In London Winston Churchill delivered a figthing speech to the British House. He said that England is making war in Norway, Holland, Belgium and must get ready for the Mediterranean.

Russia and Italy are reported in agreement over the Balkans.

U. S. FLEET GUARDING DUTCH EAST INDIES

The American fleet in the far Pacific was reported shortly afternoon Friday to have taken up battle positions at Manila in the Phillipine Islands.

A radio report, not denied in Tokyo said that the Japanese fleet had steamed out of the island harbors to attack the Dutch East Indies.

In Washington President Roosevelt received newspaper correspondents and was holding conferences with Navy and Army heads. Asking whether the United States contemplated action in the Indies the President replied that much depends on events.

President Roosevelt would make no statement over the invasion of Holland and Belgium except to say that the statement of Queen Wilhemena of Holland stated the case clearly and "is worth reading."

If the Japanse fleet attacks the Dutch Indies the United States is certain to enter the war in the far east. The Indies lie close to the American owned Phillipine Islands.

Large reserves of oil, owned by the Dutch, are regarded by Japan as too rich a prize to pass up, once Holland is engaged in a war with Germany. The British have large interests also in the Indies. American interests there are co-extant with those of the Phillipines.

Events were moving swifty in Europe following Germany's invasion of Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg at dawn Friday.

It was too early to get facts on the progress of the far flung battle, the most lengthy deplay of fighting forces in the history of the world.

News centered around the action of the United States and also speculation on possible events in the far east.

Great Britain occupied Iceland by landing troops early Friday.

Nevile Chamberlain went to Buckingham Palace to see King George. There was much evidence that he would resign, but may hold on through the present crisis.

As French, Belgian, Dutch and British troops clashed with Hitler's army on fronts along to far flung battle line, early reports, yet unconfirmed, said the Nazis were not making their customary progress. French armies sprang into action immediately and are said to have engaged the Germans heavily.

In the air it was said that Allied forces were delivering a staggering challenge to the Germans. One report said 70 German bombers had been shot down. It was not confirmed.

German bombers flew into the interior of the British Isles and bombed a small city, unprotected and unfortified.

France served notice that she will not be bound by any agreement to refrain from bombing open towns and cities if Germany does not respect non-military objectives. Bomb for bomb was pledged.

The biggest single development of the day's fighting in Belgium and Holland was the challenge of Germany's air force by the Allies.

British and French troops went immediatly to the aid of the low countries in great numbers.

A major battle was in progress but no details could be obtained.

In Italy Mussolini was silent. Only events, he said, could break his silence.

Large German shipping tonnage was seized in the East Indies by Dutch authorities when the Reich army invaded the Netherlands.

TUESDAY NIGHT GAME TO CLOSE TRAINING

(Reprint from Daily Herald)

Football will make its pre-season bid Tuesday night when two squads close out the spring training period with a game at Yoemen Field.

Coach Wood, working hard with limited material and with the use of faculty members able to piece out a semblance of training, will give his charges a real taste Tuesday night when they play a full four quarter game.

A small admission charge will be made to defray the expenses of the lights.

It will be the first opportunity fans have had to see what the prospects are for 1940. Right here it can be said that no picture was ever so dark as the one now hanging on the walls of a decadent athletic set up.

Faced with student failure the backfield, all that is available for this fall, may be so decimated the water boys will have to be run in for good measure.

For the past two weeks the Coach has been working with 15 men.

Any prospect commensurate with the position of the school is definitely out this year. Interest in football has collapsed and there seems no way to revive spirit nor to get material in time for anything but Class C play this year. The miracle of coaching which in times past has saved the set up and kept Cameron in the league, cannot possible succeed this year.

Cameron needs a shake up and needs it bad. Something should be done to safeguard the interest of athletics now. That Fifth Column should be snatched up by the beard and put on the old age pension list and opportunity given for citizens to work for a better day in Athletics.

Seventeen men, all that are in sight for this fall will play Tuesday night as follows: Robert Lee Salach, center; Gooch, guard; Terry, guard; Nichols, guard; Dycus, guard; Brashear, tackle; Walschak, tackle; Weems, tackle; Wilkerson, tackle; Aravada, end; Kunz, end; Ermis, end, Bell, back; Hays, back; Cobb back; Tindall, back; Cosby, Back.

The 1939 men, now Seniors, will probably start as follows: Lucas, back; Brashear, back; McLerran, back; Allen, back; Masopust, end; DuBois, end; Black, tackle; Sevcik, tackle; Mullinax, tackle; Harris, center; Walzel guard; Dierr, guard; Woodum, guard; Cryer, center.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Reichert were host and hostess to the Monday night club on May 13, at their home. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cole. After an enjoyable game of bridge the Coles were announced first prize winners and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Calloway received second prize. Mrs. Reichert invited the group into her dinning room for refreshments which were laid on a table covered with a lace table cloth and centered with a crystal bowl of larkspur. She was assisted in the serving by Mrs. Franklyn Dusek.

On Tuesday night at the meeting of the Catholic Youth Organization Alvin Plachy, a member of the club, spoke on the development of sin. His topic was "Watch the Beginning." After a short business meeting, the assembly adjourned for a social.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Gibson are visiting friends and relatives in Brady this week.

Edwin Day of Gladewater spent the week end in Cameron with his wife.

AMERICANS ADVISED TO LEAVE ITALY NOW

The gloom of World War days cast another long shadow today as German Legions following almost the identical route of the big push in 1914 were rapidly completing the conquest of Holland and Belgium.

The Armies of Adolph Hitler, thrusting with lightning speed had penetrated ten miles into French territory and the historic city of Sedan, important industrial center across the Belgian border had fallen to the Germans.

In Paris the French government said the city was not tenable and was abandoned to the Germans. Sedan is historic for its part in the war of 1870 where Louis Napoleon surrendered to end the Franco-German war.

Holland was cut in half by the advancing Germans. The total capitulation of the Dutch was believed imminent and a matter of only a few hours.

The Germans, penetrating the Belgian defenses, were reported within 30 miles of Brussels.

A late flash to the Daily Herald said that Amsterdam on the Dutch coast had fallen. There was no confirmation.

The Dutch government with all officials including the Queen are now in London.

An unconfirmed report said that the Former German Kaiser who found sanctuary in Holland after the German collapse in 1918 had been taken to England. The Hohenzollern faimly in Germany was said to feel grave anxiety for his saftey.

The Germans were forcing the Allies to retreat over a wide front.

German dead are said to litter the fields and thousands have been slain. Noon dispatches decscribed the battle now raging as one of the most intense in warfare and "losses are frightful." The Germans were losing more men because of their agression and attacks.

The capture of Sedan was believed a vastly important strategic victory for the Germans who are believed to be driving in a wedge to cut off help to the Belgians.

British, French and Belgian armies were retreating to new positions in Western Belgium.

Germany may launch a drive to break the Maginot line in the vicinity of the Belgian border. The Maginot extends to the North Sea all along the border of Belgium.

German bombing planes were making reinforcements difficult. The Allies were attempting to bring up new armies to stem the German tide.

Belgian civilian population have become so angered over the invasion that paraschute troops are being mobbed. One German soldier was torn limb from limb by the maddened mobs. Others have been hanged.

In England the British government said that Germany was making deplorably fast advances in the fighting.

Unless the Allies can stem the tide the Germans will push through and possess the strategic Belgian and Dutch ports within the next few hours, it was feared.

France, not yet throwing her migthy army into the fray was nevertheless engaging the Germans in increaseing numbers.

There was nothing in the news today to indicate that the British are figthing, but belief is held that all the Allies are heavily involved.

The much talked of "Biggest Battle in History" is said to be under way. It's outcome appeared thus far to be in favor of the Germans.

Americans have been advised to leave Italy.

British nationals in Italy are being mobbed.

Mussolini calmly viewed the burning of a British flag fastened to a coffin on which a copy of Chamberlain's umbrella rested. The burning occured when students leading up to a climax of Britsh hatred were dispersed by soldiers.

The French and British embassies in Rome are guared by Italian troops.

Italy is now ready to join the war to aid Hitler, if the German leader needs the assistance.

Germany was reported to have landed 100,000 troops in Norway.

BELGIAN COLLAPSE EXPECTED HOURLY

France today sent a million of her best soldiers against the Germans on the historic fields of Sedan in an effort to turn back the invasion of the Meuse River valley.

The largest French force to engage in battle thus far in the war was supported by planes, artillery and tanks and the "greatest battle in history," was under way.

The Allies denied shortly afternoon that the Maginot line had been threatened but the Germans were admited to have crossed the Meuse River in several places and formed a 4 mile pocket or bridge-head into the territory west of the Meuse banks.

All along the 100 mile front extending to Brussels the mighty armies of France, Belgium and British were locked with the lightning forces of Adolph Hitler.

Vast re-inforcements for the German army were pouring into Belgium and in the Meuse River sector and there was belief the turning point of the war may come over the battle now raging.

The Germans announced shortly afternoon today that the High Command could no longer recognize Brussels as an undefended city and advised all civilians to get out.

This warning means that Brussels. capital of Belgium, will meet the fate of Warsaw. The Belgian government had not decided to abandon the capital. Foreign Diplomats and their staffs were evacuating the capital American, Catholic and Spanish legations announced their determination to remain in Brussels.

The British army, heretofore unknown in quantity, are defending Brussels in co-operation with the Belgians.

It was believed that Brussels would be surrendered as in case of the first world war when the German army marched into Belgium

Holland according to a Dutch government representative in Paris surrendered only after 125,000 of her soldiers had been killed by the Germans and her last fighting plane destroyed, all in the course of five days.

Germany was concentrating air fleets on the coast of Norway for a possible attack on the British Isles.

With the complete surrender of Holland the Germans are now within 125 miles of London.

British troops were reported holding Brussels despite German re-inforcements.

Kaiser Wilhelm who threw his legions against Belgium in 1914 and who found sanctuary in Holland after the German collapse in 1918 is now free to return to Germany if he so desires. The armies of his country have laid waste to Holland.

The Maginot lie, still intact at noon Wednesday, was endangered as Germany increased her pressure along the Meuse front and although the French were throwing a vast army into the fight, in London and Paris the Sedan sector was regarded as serious. The situation near Rrussels was also regarded as serious.

Nowhere have the Germans been stopped but have been slowed down by the French and British defending the vast line which includes the protection of Brussels.

The Allies have denied that the Maginot line has been broken, but admit it is seriously threatened.

The French were bringing heavy artillery into the Meuse battle.

There was a slow down in air fighting. A surprise development was the challenge being given by the Allies, especially the British who have brought into the battle for the first time the newest type 400 miles per hour figthing planes.

It was said that Germany may be using as many as 7000 fighting ships against the French in the Meuse sector.

By nightfall the battle was certain to develop into intensity hitherto unknown to warfare.

THE FERGUSONS AND THE TENANT FARMER

Farmer Jim Ferguson is the first Governor of the State to make a plea in behalf of the tenant farmers of Texas. It was his concern over the plight of these forgotten men of the soil which drew him from the ranks of private citizens many years ago and established him as a leader among the Agricultural classes.

Legislation for the protection of the tenant farmer against the oppression of excessive rents and for Federal and State loans at a low rate of interest has been vigorously advocated by Farmer Jim during his entire public career.

As evidence of the soundness of the Ferguson program for the tenant farmer, the Federal Government has now approved the plan to lend money to tenant farmers to buy homes on a long time basis with a low rate of interest. As a result 75 million dollars has been made available to tenant farmers on easy terms.

When Miriam A. Ferguson is again elected Governor of Texas, the National Congress will look upon Texas as a Commonwealth which has led the way to long needed reform and National wealth will be used to make us a Nation of home owners and the industrious tenant farmer will again come into his own.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 19.

The Golden Text is: "This corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality" (I Corinthians 15:53.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ" (Ephesians 4:13.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals can never know the infinite, until they throw off the old man and reach the spirtual image and likeness" (page 519.)

BEER CAME OVER ON THE MAYFLOWER—Pilgrim records tell how the landing of the Mayflower was hastened because the Pilgrims ran short of supplies, "especially beer."
